NEW Course Announcement

Peter O'Sullivan's Cognitive Functional Therapy (CFT)

A person-centered assessment and management for CLBP disorders based on a multi-dimensional Clinical Reasoning Framework

Wim Dankaerts

- * Associate Professor
- * Musculoskeletal Physical Therapist.
- * Certified as a CET Lecturer by Peter O'Sullivan

Cognitive Functional Therapy is a Cognitive Functional Approach to the Management of Disabling Low Back Pain Disorders. This two day workshop outlines a novel bio-psycho-social approach to the classification, assessment and management of chronic low back pain disorders. A treatment model called 'Cognitive functional therapy' (CFT) that integrates both cognitive strategies and functional rehabilitation to change provocative movement and cognitive behaviors that provoke and maintain pain will be presented. The workshop is dynamic, interactive and practical. It includes, clinical reasoning and equips physiotherapists to develop skills in diagnostics as well as the design of CFT interventions for specific disorders.

Be prepared to change your beliefs about back pain if you attend this workshop.
